Fund returns

Share markets surged in December following an indication from the US Federal Reserve that it expects to cut interest rates three times in 2024, as US economic and inflation data releases show signs of slowing. US job openings retreated in October to 2021 levels, US personal consumption expenditures showed consumer prices declined -0.1% during November and US annual headline CPI printed 3.1% in November, down from 3.2% in the prior month. Major global central banks kept interest rates on hold during the month.

Australian shares gained 7.2% in December, led by the Healthcare, Materials, Real Estate and Technology sectors. Currency-hedged international equities gained 3.9% and unhedged international equities returned 1.8%, blunted by the Australian dollar which appreciated in value against the US dollar and Euro.

The Australian 10-year government bond yield tumbled by (-0.46%) to 3.96% pa and the US 10-year government bond yield fell by (-0.45%) to close at 3.88% pa.

Against this backdrop, the Fund returned +4.1% for the month. The Fund achieved gains on almost all holdings, with the Australian Unity Healthcare Property Trust the only investment to decline materially. The Fund's one-year return sits at +11.4%, reflecting returns above +20% on various Australian and international share investments in the past year.

The Fund has achieved strong returns over longer periods, with a five-year return broadly in line with the objective (currently inflation + 3.75% pa), and a return since inception above the Fund's objective. This reflects strong market and manager returns for much of the Fund's history, albeit impacted by COVID's emergence in 2020 and the share and bond market losses incurred in calendar 2022. Over the past five years, the Fund's strongest contributors include the iShares Indexed International Equity Fund (Unhedged) at +13.9% pa, Australian Unity Healthcare Property Trust at +13.6% pa, and the Platypus Australian Equity Fund at +11.8% pa.

Distribution

The Fund declared its semi-annual distribution effective 31 December. The 0.8 cent distribution includes interest achieved on fixed interest exposures, rent and similar income from the Fund's real asset exposures, and franked dividends achieved within underlying Australian equity funds for the six months to December.

Fund portfolio management

The Fund trimmed its global shareholdings after recent months' strong global share market rally pushed the exposure above our target.

At month-end, the Fund's positioning can be summarised as:

Australian shares – The Fund expects to achieve an adequate return premium versus risk-free assets over the medium-to-long term, bolstered by franking credits. We hold a blend of underlying managers that provide diversification across company size, industry exposure, and investment styles, to improve the consistency of returns.

International shares – Even after recent gains, we believe most global share markets offer reasonable long-term returns for the risk being adopted. US equities (and in particular the largest companies) appear expensive and may deliver poor performance in coming years - the Fund is significantly underweight to the US while maintaining significant exposure to other markets.

Real assets – The different return drivers for real assets versus listed equities provide diversification benefits for investors. We currently prefer listed assets, particularly infrastructure, as these trade at a significant discount to direct/unlisted holdings, have greater liquidity, and offer robust prospective returns. Accordingly, we hold an overweight position to these assets.

Defensive assets – Currently long-dated bond yields are close to the returns available on (zero-duration) cash, offering outperformance if central banks cut cash rates in coming years. Fixed interest also offers diversification benefits versus equities, and so we maintain moderate duration exposure.

Credit spreads offer adequate but not outstanding compensation for the risk being assumed. Accordingly, the Fund holds exposures to domestic and international credit managers.

Outlook

Investors remain keenly focused on global central banks' efforts to control inflation through tighter monetary policy and are watching to see whether this sends economies and vulnerable industries into recession. We believe most central banks are near or at the end of their current tightening cycles, however, investment markets now expect rapid rate cuts – a pace that may not eventuate.

On a medium-to-long-term view, most growth assets (with the exception of US shares) continue to offer a reasonable or attractive return premium versus risk-free assets, leading the Fund to adopt a "neutral" overall risk position.
